

TRY TO AVERT R. R. STRIKE

Members of Canadian Government Gather at Ottawa to Discuss Move

THREATENED FOR THIS AFTERNOON

Movement of Troops, Munitions and Crops Would Be Halted

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 25.—With the movement of troops, munitions and crops involved in the threatened strike of the trainmen of the Canadian Pacific railway, the ministers of the government assembled yesterday at an emergency cabinet meeting to deal with the situation. The government is endeavoring to formulate some plan to avert a tie-up of the system, which extends across the dominion. The trainmen have voted that a strike shall begin this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Efforts to bring men and the company together and to induce the employees to defer action in order to provide time for discussion have failed.

Later the cabinet issued a public appeal to both sides to reach a settlement. This appeal, asserting that the government regards the situation "as a matter of grave concern," and recognizing that the rights of the trainmen and the road are entitled to "every consideration," declares that the rights of the public also must be taken into account. The appeal concludes:

"The government cannot forget its duty as guardians of those rights. This duty is especially imperative in time of war. Before taking any active step to prevent public disaster, the government appeals once more to the company and the employees that such settlement will be made that will prevent the threatened strike."

COUNTRY SHORT OF PENNIES.

Mints Working 24 Hours a Day to Relieve the Conditions.

Washington, Oct. 25.—What the country needs today is more pennies, says the treasury department. To that end the Philadelphia and San Francisco mints are working 24 hours a day and the Denver mint 16 hours a day turning them out.

A lot of reasons are given for the shortage, the chief one being the increased use of the copper coins, with every dealer in everything adding a penny every now and then.

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Make It Thick, Wavy and Beautiful—Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine to-night—now—any time—will surely save your hair. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

VLILA DEFEATS GENERAL OZUNA

Drives Carranza Troops to Within Four Miles of Chihuahua—Report Ammunition Shortage.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.—Passengers from Chihuahua City who are in Juarez, Mexico, said that General Ozuna proceeded last Friday against Francisco Villa with three parallel columns, of which he commanded the center. Nothing is known in Chihuahua of the flanking columns they declared, but the center was driven back by Villa with heavy losses, to Frasco, four miles outside the city.

A number of foreigners were on the train who said the Carranza troops there were reported short of ammunition. It was also said that a special train brought the family of General Trevino from Chihuahua to Juarez Monday night.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 25.—Confirmation of the report that Villa has reached the outskirts of Chihuahua City and of fighting in the suburbs between Villa's men and General Trevino's command was contained in a dispatch received yesterday by General Funston from General Bell, commanding at El Paso. Gen. Bell's report is understood to be based on information from General Pershing.

The people of Chihuahua have become panic stricken as a result of Villa's advance on the city following his recent victory over General Ozuna at Panamas, the dispatch said.

Information has reached army circles from several sources that General Trevino is short of ammunition.

BABY EYES PRICELESS.

Court, However, Awards $25,000 for Loss of Sight.

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Although holding that the two eyes of a baby were priceless, Judge Frank J. Murphy in the supreme court placed a nominal value of $25,000 on their loss. The amount was awarded as judgment in the case of the parents of Mary Rubio, one year old, against Mrs. Amalia Razzuoli, a midwife.

The allegation in the complaint was that the midwife failed to exercise proper judgment in caring for the baby's eyes.

SHIPMENTS OF GOLD FLOOD THE COUNTRY

The gold in the United States is now double that of 1904, and forty per cent more than at the beginning of the European war.

GOOD BEEF CATTLE OFFERED.

Prices Distinctly Better at Brighton Market, but Trading Slow.

Brighton, Mass., Oct. 25.—Trading in beef stock was still slow at the Brighton yards yesterday, buyers being slow to take hold. Hogs were higher, and canner cows were advanced a trifle.

Some very good beef cattle were offered yesterday morning, and prices were distinctly better for such stock, which has been scarce while the holidays were in progress. Tops sold yesterday morning at 9¢9½¢, with good cattle 8¢8½¢, and light cattle at 6¢7¢.

Beef cows were still rather easy, though canner cows were better in the biddings. Sales of the latter were made at 3½¢3¾¢, while ordinary cows at 4¢4¼¢, good cows at 4½¢5¢, and best stock at 5½¢6¢.

Choice beef cows sold at 5½¢6¢, and only an extremely fancy cow would bring over 6¢.

Scrubby bulls were in over supply, and prices were depressed on such stock. Average stock sold at 5¢5½¢, with fancy a little higher. Bologna sold at 3½¢4½¢.

Calves held their own very well, with some fancy small lots selling at 11¢11½¢. Bunch lots of choice stock sold at 10¢11¢ and fair lots at 8¢9½¢. Grassers and drinkers brought 6¢8¢.

In spite of a better run of hogs and a larger kill than for many weeks, prices of both live and dressed stock stiffened up again, and were about ¼¢ higher than a week ago. Best stock sold at 10¢10½¢, with rough lots at 9½¢9¾¢.

More sheep and lambs were on the trains yesterday morning than have been seen for many weeks. Prices were still firm, with really choice lambs bringing a little more than last week. The range of prices was 9¢10¢ for lambs and 6¢7¢ for sheep, though some poor lots sold for less.

The milch cow market has been slow and draggy lately, but a better demand was expected today. Arrivals are fairly heavy, but buyers are shy. Ordinary milkers are quotable at $40¢$50, with good milkers at $50¢$75, and fancy milkers at $80¢$100 and occasionally more.

MARKETING LIVESTOCK.

There is Marked Variation in the Methods Employed.

Marked variation in methods of marketing meat animals in different sections of the United States and in methods of marketing different classes of animals in the country as a whole has been found by specialists of the U. S. department of agriculture from a survey of the livestock marketing conditions of the country. The data obtained by the survey have been published as part V of a report of an exhaustive study of the meat situation in the United States.

The three general methods of marketing found to be in most common use are:

Shipping to the large centralized markets, selling to local butchers and packers, and the sale of farm-prepared meats to dealers or customers. The bulk of the animals from the central states, it was found, is sold through the centralized markets, while some form of local marketing predominates in the extreme eastern, western and southern states.

The great central markets handle four-fifths of the sheep, lambs, two-thirds of the hogs, and approximately one-half of the beef cattle. For local slaughter about one-third of the beef cattle, one-eighth of the sheep and lambs, and one-twelfth of the hogs are sold. Nearly one-third of the hogs and about one-tenth of the beef cattle and one-twentieth of the sheep and lambs are slaughtered on farms and ranges. Relatively more sheep are shipped in carload lots by owners than any other class of live stock. Cattle, hogs, and calves follow in the order named. In sales to local buyers hogs lead, with calves, cattle, and sheep following in order.

The study discloses that the time of buying stockers and feeders and the selling of finished animals is restricted too generally to a few months of the year. Should stock-feeders be better adjusted to market conditions, a decided influence toward a more even distribution of the supply would be the result.

Co-operative associations of cattle raisers are becoming an important factor in marketing, the report shows. Seven hundred and fifty organizations which market cattle in a co-operative way now exist in 15 states. Four hundred and thirty of these organizations are primarily live-stock shipping associations. The greatest activity of this sort was found in Minnesota, where 215 co-operative live stock shipping associations are located. The department specialists declare that these associations bring greater returns to the farmers because of the reduction of marketing expenses and the realization of the prevailing prices at the centralized markets, and that they are also valuable because of their educational features.

Stockyards and Packing Establishments.

The system of centralized live-stock markets in the United States is the largest single factor in the marketing of meat animals. It is noteworthy that this system is peculiar to the United States, no other country having developed such markets for their live stock. Not only is live stock sold for slaughter at the centralized markets, but a large proportion of stocker and feeder cattle also passes through these market centers.

The chief outlet for food producing animals in this country, the study discloses, is wholesale slaughtering and meat packing. Such industries usually are associated with the great centralized markets. More than 1,200 slaughtering and meat packing establishments were operating in the United States in 1914, and turned out products worth $1,651,765,424.

The specialists report that one of the striking features of the industry is the concentration of ownership. Packing establishments buy directly from the producer in California to greater extent than in any other state or section. This practice, which in the opinion of the specialists, will continue to be important in those parts of the country remote from centralized markets, is most characteristic of the western group of states in general. There is a decided difference of opinion among producers, marketmen, and packers as to the effects of this practice in sections supplied with central markets on the general market prices of live stock and on the prosperity of cattle raisers.

Municipally owned or controlled abattoirs are becoming increasingly important in the local marketing of live stock, the report shows, and are displacing rapidly the old type of slaughterhouse. Public abattoirs have been established in 22 cities and 13 states. Local conditions should determine whether or not a city should build its own abattoir, and a thorough examination of conditions, therefore, should be made before definite action is taken.

Great variations were found to exist in the losses of and damage to live stock in transit on different railroads. On one road the claims paid amounted to 19 per cent of the revenue during a certain period, and on another to less than five per cent. The total claims for such loss and damage in 1913-14 on 27 railroads were $1,245,477.81. The average returns on live stock for the years 1911 to 1913 were found to be ten cents per hundred pounds for eastern or official territory, 11.9 cents for southern territory and 14.9 cents for western territory.

The correlation between average live-stock and meat prices over relatively long periods is closer than is generally understood. When the price of live stock rises or falls, meat prices tend to change in the same direction, but the meat prices are not subject to abrupt daily fluctuations, which are one of the most adverse features of live-stock market conditions.

Market Returns.

In order to secure information as to the relative cost of the different factors or steps in the processes of marketing animals and the proportions of the final price reaching the farmer and other parties to the transactions, the specialists traced several typical lots of beef cattle from producers to consumers, both through centralized markets and where the animals were disposed of locally. In the former case the farmer's share of the gross returns ranged from 34 per cent to 85 per cent, while from two per cent to five per cent went to pay market expenses, two per cent to nine per cent was received by the packers, and eight per cent to 33 per cent by the retailers. In the local sales, from 62 per cent to 84 per cent of the gross returns was received by the farmer and from 15 per cent to 38 per cent by the retailers. The detailed figures indicate, however, that even when account is taken of the fact that lower grade stock is sold locally the returns from such sales are not as great relatively as those from sales through centralized markets.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful, effervescent, lithia-water drink, which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

MONTPELIER HIGH WON.

Defeated Burlington High School, 13 to 0 in Hard Game.

Burlington, Oct. 25.—Burlington high school's eleven was defeated yesterday in a hard fought contest by the fast Montpelier team on Centennial field. Montpelier used the forward passing game with good results, both of their touchdowns being made from forward pass formations. One of these touchdowns, the second, was made by one of the luckiest catches made on Centennial field since that made by a Clarkson college man earlier in the season. Two Burlington men struck the ball with the intention of diverting its course to the ground, but the ball landed plump in the arms of the Montpelier center, who, with fine interference, ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Following these tactics throughout the last three quarters the Montpelier team was able to rush the ball almost for a touchdown but time was called with the ball on the 15-yard line in their possession.

The Montpelier delegation were able to open holes almost at will for their speedy backs to go through, while the Burlington men had to go through such infinitesimal holes that they were finally forced to abandon their line-plunging game and adopt the tactics of their opponents.

For Burlington, Bramon at right half played a star game and made one run through tackle of approximately 50 yards, being tackled on the 15-yard line. The locals were not able to score from this position, and the other eleven received the ball on downs. Miller also ran the team with fine caution and head work.

The line-up at the start was as follows:

M. H. S.	B. H. S.
March, L. E.	R. E. Holdstock
Barrett, J. T.	R. T. Simonds
Gerd, L. G.	R. G. Stevens

Smith, Q. B.	R. Q. Miller
Gross, L. H.	R. H. Brannon
Pike, F. B.	R. B. Haigh

Touchdowns:	Clark, Morse; goals, Smith, L. substitutions: Burlington, Nash for Holdstock, Frank for Katz, Bayarski for Nash, Harrington for Daniels, Daniels for Scott, Towne for Harrington, Wilkins for Miller, Cole for Simonds, Lanou for Towne; Montpelier, Nutte for Barrett, referee, Palmer, U. Ted Cann, who is the 500-yard national swimming champion, as well as the interscholastic world's record holder for the 50-yard event, has entered New York university, which means that N. Y. U. will have a swimming team.

G. W. Bliss, the Moses Brown school sprinter, who was a close second to Bill Hayes of St. John's preparatory school in the Harvard interscholastic meet last spring is at Williams college and has been appointed captain of the freshman team. Bliss is a Fall River boy.

W. H. Spencer of the Mount City Rifle club of St. Louis, Mo., won first place in a field of 929 competitors in the individual rifle competition of the national board for promotion of rifle practice held at Jacksonville, Fla., on Monday. Spencer, a civilian, scored 274 points of a possible 300 in 200 yards of rapid firing and 600 out of 1,000 in slow firing. The title of the champion rifle shot of the United States goes to the winner, First Sgt. E. L. Manen of the 1st Delaware infantry took second place, with 271 points to his credit, and Sgt. Raymond Leveyer, United States marine corps, took third with 270.

"Babe" White, the Syracuse captain, is the biggest man playing football today. He stands six feet, seven inches high and weighs 250 pounds, and yet he was no obstruction to the Pittsburgh steam roller.

Monday afternoon there were two new candidates out for the Exeter eleven, M. K. Douglas, a second string lineman on last year's squad, and A. F. Shum, J. P. Kelly, captain of the 1913 team, was given charge of the linemen, and Coach Vaughn handled the backs and ends. Exeter is preparing for its game with Princeton freshmen Saturday. All the regulars have been out for practice this week with the exception of Ball and he has an injured shoulder and may not be seen in togs for some time.

The New York university basketball team will start its season this winter with a new coach, according to an announcement made by manager Ehrgot. Harry Haring of Paterson, N. J., has been secured to succeed William Lush, who has held the position during the past two seasons. The change comes as a great surprise to the students at the college, who thought after the fine showing made through the past two years Lush would be retained. The change comes as a result of the growth of the idea of faculty control of athletics, which has made it

Charles M. Sheldon, left tackle on the Yale football team, will be unable to play for several days, and may not start against Washington & Jefferson next Saturday.

Georgetown's victory over the Dartmouth Green team last Saturday was not only a shock to the Dartmouth men, but to the football world in general. While it has been conceded that Georgetown had a few stars and that they would give Dartmouth the biggest run for the money that they will have outside of the Princeton games this year, there were but few who would have ever thought that the southerners could win by the score they did or even make a tie. Football followers had the hunch that the Green's lightweight were more evenly balanced, and that this would offset the bulk. Coach Exendine and all Georgetown men are to be congratulated on the excellent showing of the team.

The prospects for a successful year in the swimming world at Yale are very bright, as Howe and Dean are the only men on the team of last season returning to college this season who are ineligible to play. Captain Ferguson, Schlaet, Rosener, and Mayer of the relay team, which won the national championship at Chicago last Easter, are all available.
